Navigating Your B.A. Degree with Ease

To complete a B.A. degree at Antioch University Los Angeles, you will earn units in a range of areas, exposing you to a broad range of perspectives and learning opportunities. We encourage students to individualize their program by creating a mix of:

Interactive Classroom Courses: Opportunities to read, analyze, and critique in vibrant discussions

Community-based Workshops: One-day on-site visits to vital elements of our community

Internships: Weekly commitments to sharing your skills with organizations such as the Unusual Suspects, a community-based organization that offers theater arts to at-risk youth.

Independent Study Projects: Individually-crafted opportunities to study topics not taught in courses. Examples: Bertolt Brecht in Hollywood; Contemporary Latino Theater in Los Angeles.

Prior Learning: Learning activities completed prior to enrolling at Antioch that can be documented to earn college credit. Students with many Prior Learning credits may be able to reduce their time in the program by a quarter or more!

Join us and complete the next chapter in your life! Learn how easy the process can be!
